Indian Corn

by Clara Masessa

These knitted ears of corn will become part of your annual Fall decorations. Beginning knitters may use standard cast on and bind off, or you can choose a Provisional cast on and a Three Needle bind off.

Indian Corn

You may use standard cast on and bind off and sew the edges together to make a tube. If you prefer, use a Provisional Cast On and Three Needle Bind Off (instructions below).

With method of your choice, cast on 30 sts and knit 34 rows. Join into a tube.

Using a darning needle and yarn, gather together bottom of tube, pull snug and fasten off. Stuff with fiber fill.

Cut 3 husks from a brown paper bag or craft paper and insert the fluted ends into the open top of corn. With darning needle and yarn, gather top together like the bottom and fasten off.

Weave in all ends. Cut two pieces of yarn 18" long and tie in a bow around top corn.

Provisional Cast On:

With a crochet hook and waste yarn of same gauge, chain 30 sts. With main color yarn pick up 1 st in the back of each chain (30 sts). After knitting is complete, carefully remove crocheted chain while transferring the live sts to a smaller spare knitting needle to prepare for bind off.

Three Needle Bind Off:

With the right sides of both needles facing each other and the needles parallel, insert a third needle into first stitch of each left hand needle and knit 2 stitches together and slip off the left hand needles to right hand needle. Repeat with next 2 stitches on left hand needles but leave them on the right hand needle. Pass the stitch on the right hand needle over the stitch on the left hand needle. Slip stitch to right hand needle. Repeat to bind off across the row.
